Growing through the Sunday Scriptures

May 31, 2020
Pentecost Sunday
Acts of the Apostles 2:1-11
Psalm 104:1, 24, 29-30, 31, 34
1 Corinthians 12:3b-7, 12-13
John 20:19-23

A reading from the Holy Gospel according to John:

On the evening of that first day of the week, when the doors were locked, where the disciples were, for fear of the Jews, Jesus came and stood in their midst and said to them, “Peace be with you.”

When he had said this, he showed them his hands and his side.

The disciples rejoiced when they saw the Lord.

Jesus said to them again, “Peace be with you. As the Father has sent me, so I send you.”

And when he had said this, he breathed on them and said to them,

“Receive the Holy Spirit. Whose sins you forgive are forgiven them, and whose sins you retain are retained.”

FR. ANTONY'S LETTER

Dear Friends,

A father and his daughter were sitting in front of a mirror. After gazing at her reflection for a moment she asked, “Daddy, did God make you?” The dad said “Certainly, my dear.”

After taking another look in the mirror the girl enquired “And did He make me too?”

“Certainly, dear. What makes you ask?” said the dad

“Seems to me, He’s doing better work lately” replied the girl.

The seventh and the last week of the Easter Season brings out the message that we can do better with God.

Jesus has plainly explained the purpose of his coming to us, “I came so that they might have life and have it more abundantly.” (John 10:10). Last Thursday we celebrated the Ascension of the Lord. But before ascending to heaven, Jesus promised us that he continues His mission in and through us by remaining with us through the presence of the Holy Spirit. He empowers us His disciples, “All power in heaven and on earth has been given to me...observe all that I have commanded you.* And behold, I am with you always...” (Matthew 28:16-20)

In today’s Gospel Jesus prays for the believers to continue His mission as He did the mission of God the Father. He explains how the believers can shine as God’s glory in doing the mission of Jesus, “I pray for them, ...for the ones you have given me, because they are yours and everything of mine is yours and everything of yours is mine, and I have been glorified in them.”

In the First reading we see those believers coming together, “All these devoted themselves with one accord to prayer, together with some women, and Mary the mother of Jesus, and his brothers.” (Acts 1:14) They prayed for the power (Holy Spirit) to come upon them to continue the mission of Jesus. We are called this week to pray like the first community of believers as we are waiting to celebrate the great feast of Pentecost, the power of God (Holy Spirit) to come upon them. This day, they became the Church. So the feast of Pentecost is the Birthday of the Church.

Let us pray this week fervently for the HOLY SPIRIT to come upon each and every one of us, to lead us out of this isolating time to come together as a community of Christ in good health.

With love and prayers,
Fr. Antony

Catholic Bishops Urge that COVID-19 Vaccine Be Free from Aborted Baby Cells

The U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops (USCCB), along with the leaders of many healthcare, bioethics, and pro-life organizations, is urging the Administration to make sure that vaccines for coronavirus are developed ethically and are free from any connection to the exploitation of abortion. The coalition letter to the U.S. Food & Drug Administration strongly urges the federal government to "ensure that fundamental moral principles are followed in the development of vaccines, most importantly, the principle that human life is sacred and should never be exploited." (1)

"It is critically important that Americans have access to a vaccine that is produced ethically. No American should be forced to choose between being vaccinated against this potentially deadly virus and violating his or her conscience." (2)

This issue emerged because some politicians are urging the Administration to lift its restrictions on National Institutes of Health (NIH) research. These restrictions prevent the use of any bodies of aborted children, often referred to as "fetal tissue." Some media articles are claiming that the restrictions are preventing scientists from finding a vaccine for COVID-19 even though the restrictions against using aborted fetal tissue are not hindering research.

Pharmaceutical companies around the world are also working to make a vaccine against COVID-19. Explaining current vaccine research, Dr. David Prentice, VP and Research Director for one company said, "... there are a lot (over 40) proposed or under development; ... a few raise concern because they use an abortion-derived cell line as part of the process." ... "their origin makes them ethically tainted." (3)

However, there are possible alternatives. "There are actually many licitly (permitted by law) produced vaccines under consideration, including vaccines using insect cells, ethically-derived human cells, and some that use no cells at all," Dr. Prentice explained. "It's important that we advocate for such vaccines and treatments so that all people can access new vaccines in good conscience." (4)

Many are not aware that common vaccines that grow in aborted fetal cells include: chickenpox, shingles, hepatitis A, rabies, MMR (measles, mumps, rubella). These aborted fetal cells were originally used in the 1960s and 1970s. These same lines are still used today.

While it's still too early to know what vaccine for COVID-19 will prove effective, scientists are certain that vaccines can be created without using fetal cell lines, and the bodies of aborted children are not necessary for medical research and advancements.

"Ethics is nothing else than reverence for life."
