Psalm 98: 1m 2-3m 3-4

John 15:9-17

A reading from the Gospel according to John:

Jesus said to his disciples:

"As the Father loves me, so I also love you.
Remain in my love.

If you keep my commandments, you will remain in my love, just as I have kept my Father's Commandments and remain in his love.

"I have told you this so that my joy may be in
you and your joy might be complete.

This is my commandment: love one another as I love you.

No one has greater love than this, to lay down one's life for one's friends.

You are my friends if you do what I command
you.

I no longer call you slaves, because a slave
does not know what his master is doing.

I have called you friends, because I have told you everything I have heard from my Father.

It was not you who chose me, but I who chose you and appointed you to go and bear fruit that will remain, so that whatever you ask the Father in my name he may give you.

This I command you: love one another."

FR. ANTONY'S LETTER

Dear Friends,

“When children stop asking where they came from and start refusing to tell you where they are going, we know they are growing up.” This adage says that ‘growing’ is the basic nature of being human. The growing starts very early in life and growth continues in body, mind and spirit while living on earth. This Easter season invites us to realize that growing continues even after death in the power of the Risen Jesus.

The first reading is the tail-end story of Paul’s conversion. His conversion took place on his way to Damascus to execute the orders from Jerusalem to kill the Christians. He went as an executor to stop the growth of the New Faith in Jesus, but he was struck by the power of the Risen Jesus, to become the powerful apostle to grow and form this New faith in the hearts of people both Jews and gentiles. God always employs us in growing and not in eradicating. Those who become co-growers with God will experience, like Paul, fulfillment in their lives.

In the Gospel Jesus portrays this spiritual reality picturesquely. “I am the vine, you are the branches. Whoever remains in me and I in him will bear much fruit, because without me you can do nothing.” What a beautiful picture from the world of agriculture to explain our life, as a branch growing in Jesus the Vine. God is not a system or machine that our life becomes a mechanical act of God’s rules and regulations. We are living organisms in God. We grow and bear God’s fruit. We carry within us God’s growing and living force bringing the taste of God in our words and deeds, like the fruits (grapes) bring out the taste of the Vine.

We live in a world of systems, programs, techniques and methods which shape humans into usable and controllable commodities. Though each of us has the innate power of growing uniquely according to our specific nature, we are often treated as blocks to produce the desired effect of those who employ us. It is easy to become some kind of block to produce a desired structure; this kind of becoming a block to build someone’s structure is to reduce oneself or to enslave oneself to the whims of the other for material advantage/personal profit.

But in God’s world God wants us to be a branch attached to the living God who enlivens us to grow and bear fruit. We are creative which means we cannot reduce or retract ourselves for anything else except to God’s purpose and power in us. Let us realize that we are attached to Jesus the Vine and we can be the grapes with God’s taste. Let us live as sheep of Jesus, the Shepherd who would bring us to green pastures and still waters.

With love and prayers,
Fr. Antony

Focus on Religious Freedom

www.cffor.org

"You will never do anything in the world without courage.

It is the greatest quality of the mind next to honor." - Aristotle

Some With Courage Are Defending Religious Freedom...Continued

The U.S. Supreme Court ruled in favor of former Georgia college student, Chile Uzuegbunam, who was prevented from expressing religious views in a free-speech zone on campus. In an 8-1 decision, Justice Clarence Thomas wrote that the student "experienced a complete violation of his constitutional rights when respondents enforced their speech policies against him."(1) The student wanted to speak with interested students about his faith but was silenced by a security officer until he obtained a special permit for a "designated speech area." "When Uzuegbunam reserved a zone and again tried to share his faith, officials ordered him to stop because someone complained," said his Alliance Defending Freedom (ADF) attorney.(2)

"Groups representing diverse ideological viewpoints (atheist, Jewish, Catholic & Muslim) supported our client because the threat to our constitutionally protected freedoms doesn't stop with free speech rights or a college campus," said Kristen Waggoner, ADF attorney.(3)

Hundreds of Canadian Christians gathered at the GraceLife Church in Edmonton, Alberta on Sunday, April 11, to protest and tear down a chain link fence that government officials erected to prevent worshipping. Alberta Health Services (AHS) had closed the building and access roads were closed by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. AHS said the church would remain closed until they "can demonstrate the ability to comply with Alberta's chief medical officer of health restrictions."(4) In February, Pastor James Coates was charged with breaching COVID health guidelines that limited services to 15% of capacity and not enforcing masks and distancing regulations. He spent 35 days in custody and paid a fine.

The worshippers peacefully gathered to sing hymns and listen to Bible readings outside, but the crowd grew, and some started to remove the fence. Riot police dispersed the crowd. "I'm very disappointed to see this kind of draconian and aggressive enforcement of health orders ... It shows a very aggressive government that is not answering questions about its policies, but wants to push its weight around and try to make an example of GraceLife Church," said a JCCF attorney.(5)

The Indiana legislature sent a bill to Gov. Eric Holcomb that would classify religious services as essential during declared disaster emergencies and would prevent the government imposing any restrictions on religious services. "Religious organizations provide essential services that are necessary for the health and welfare of the public during a disaster emergency," the bill reads.(6)

"I hope its another 500 years before we ever have another disaster ... like what our state and nation have experienced this last year," said State Sen. Eric Koch. "But should that arise, this (bill) should protect that very enshrined right in our Constitution."(7)

Daily mass is posted Monday through Friday on YouTube. The basket will serve as a silent reminder that we are united in faith, hope and love as we lift one another up in prayer and support, while placing our trust in the Lord.

“For me, prayer is a surge of the heart; it is a simple look turned toward heaven, it is a cry of recognition and of love, embracing both trial and joy.”

ST. VINCENT DE PAUL

In the Gospel today, Jesus says "Whoever remains in me and I in him will bear much fruit, because without me you can do nothing."

Indeed, by helping the poor we can "bear much fruit" and we find that with Jesus we can do everything.

Your gift to the Society of St. Vincent de Paul will show that you are indeed the disciple of Jesus as it will bring your love to those who live in fear and doubt, loneliness and dread.
