Growing through the Sunday Scriptures

February 27, 2022
Eighth Sunday in Ordinary Time
Sirach 27:4-7
Psalm 92:2-3. 13-14. 15-16
1 Corinthians 15:54-58
Luke 6:37-45

A reading from the Gospel according to Luke:

Jesus told his disciples a parable,
“Can a blind person guide a blind person? Will not both fall into a pit?
No disciple is superior to the teacher; but when fully trained, every disciple will be like his teacher.
Why do you notice the splinter in your brother’s eye, but do not perceive the wooden beam in your own? How can you say to your brother, ‘Brother, let me remove that splinter in your eye,’ when you do not even notice the wooden beam in your own eye? You hypocrite! Remove the wooden beam from your eye first; then you will see clearly to remove the splinter in your brother’s eye.

“A good tree does not bear rotten fruit, nor does a rotten tree bear good fruit. For every tree is known by its own fruit. For people do not pick figs from thorn-bushes, nor do they gather grapes from brambles. A good person out of the store of goodness in his heart produces good, but an evil person out of a store of evil produces evil; for from the fullness of the heart the mouth speaks.”

Focus Questions:

1. How easy or hard is it for you to see yourself completely?
2. Describe a time when your impulse was to hit someone but you resisted.
3. Relate a time when God helped you overcome obstacles in your life.

Family and children’s question

Talk about how you can work harder to see the good in others.

FR. ANTONY'S LETTER

Dear Friends,

There is an interesting quote about how to have a clear conscience. “All it takes to have a clear conscience is a fuzzy memory.” The problem with this saying is that we want to have a clear conscience, but don't want to live with fuzzy memory. Life without clear memory would be a vegetable-life. Except during sleep we want to keep our memory as alive and as conscious as possible.

Today's readings instruct us on how to keep both our memory and our consciousness pure and clear. Our memory is capable of remembering everything both good and bad, blessings and pains, hurts and help. Of all the memories that are stored in our mind the most difficult one to get rid of is the memory of a hurt. That is why we often say “I can forgive but not forget.” Today's readings invite us to cure and treat the memory in order to live our good and gracious self.

In the first reading David had all the chance to kill King Saul who had tried to kill him several times. But David refused to kill him even though his companions brought back to him all the hurtful memory of living through the pain and sufferings from Saul. Rather David uplifted his memory from taking vengeance to leaving Saul alive and safe. How could David change his vengeful memory to a forgiving mentality? David refused to see Saul as his enemy. He saw in him an anointed king by God. Like David, it all depends on what we see in the other that will either ignite our own vengeful memory to kill the other or inspire our forgiving mentality to let the other live.

In the second reading Paul explains how we can look at human beings. We can look at a human as an offspring of the first Adam who was earthly and a weak person capable of transgressing God's law, and thus everyone is a sinner. Or we can acknowledge in every human person an offspring of the last Adam, Jesus, who is heavenly, capable of redeeming us from sins and thus everyone is God's redeemed persons. The way we accept the other either as sinners or God's redeemed persons will define our relations and actions towards them.

From the backgrounds of these two readings we try to understand the Gospel's invitation to live the “impossible”. “Love your enemies, do good to those who hate you, bless those who curse you, pray for those who mistreat you.” How can we love the enemy and do good to the hater? It is possible only when we stop living as people reacting to what they have done to us and begin living as God's people having the power to “Be merciful, just as our Father is merciful.”

If we accept that we are positively charged with Godly qualities we will see in every one, even in our enemies and haters, the same qualities of God dwelling in them. But if we see that we are equally as bad as our enemies and haters, we will have no choice but to react in the same measure. What we prefer to see in ourselves and in others will define our action or reaction towards us and others. Let us pray that God help us recognize ourselves and others as God's children empowered with Godly qualities of love and mercy.

LENT – ASH WEDNESDAY: Lent starts in ten days on March 2nd with ASH WEDNESDAY.

This year we would serve the Ashes four times.

- During the celebration of Mass at 9:00 am and 7:00 pm.
- During the celebration of the Word (Service) at 12:00 noon and 4:30 pm
- Ashes will be applied on foreheads by the priest or ministers. Those who want wear ashes by themselves, can get a small plastic packet at the end of the masses or services.

On Lenten Fridays we will pray the Stations of the Cross in the Church at 7:00 pm.

With love and prayers,

Fr. Antony

"If we are on guard against ignorance and remain free, it is the responsibility of every American to be informed." Thomas Jefferson

Advocating for Religious Freedom for All

The National Committee for Religious Freedom was launched on January 18, 2022, by Sam Brownback, former U.S. ambassador for international religious freedom from 2018-2020, who said that any weakening of the fundamental right to religious liberty in the U.S. will have detrimental effects overseas. A number of religious leaders joined the committee that plans to organize nationally in each of the 50 states to "conduct educational campaigns about the beauty of this sacred human right." ⁽¹⁾

This new group compliments the work of Catholics for Freedom of Religion (CFFR), founded in 2012, with its mission as a grassroots, lay ministry, to teach the facts of the First Amendment and religious freedom. "If we do not understand what freedom of religion correctly means, it can be eased away from us one word and one regulation at a time. We would forfeit what God has provided and the Constitution has protected," wrote Barbara Samuells, president of CFFR. ⁽²⁾

Religious Education News

Some of the eighth graders attended the Youth Group this Sunday. They began by attending the 11:30 Mass, had lunch and participated in activities with the Youth Group and ended the day with a prayer ritual outside.

The children who attended the 9:30 Mass learned about St Valentine and made their own Valentines to take home..

Fr. Antony welcomed all who came to Mass on Sunday despite the snow

This listing will expire on March 31, 2022.

During these difficult times, as a family of faith, we turn to our Heavenly Father in prayer. You are invited to submit your prayer intentions and those of your family. All prayer intentions will be placed in a basket near the altar in St Thomas More before each Mass. The basket will serve as a silent reminder that we are united in faith, hope and love as we lift one another up in prayer and support, while placing our trust in the Lord.

“For me, prayer is a surge of the heart; it is a simple look turned toward heaven, it is a cry of recognition and of love, embracing both trial and joy.”

Let's Journey Together!

A message from Bishop John Barres

Dear Friends:

As One Family in Mission, we are called to Build a Community of Faith, Hope and Love. You answer that call and make a difference in the lives of so many in our community when you support the Catholic Ministries Appeal.

Your gifts help to build a community of Faith by supporting the education of our seminarians, deacons, and lay leaders as they prepare to serve in our diocese and local parish communities. You help us to bring our Faith to our young people in religious education classes and those participating in Youth, Young Adult and Campus Ministry programs. Your gifts bring Hope and Love to so many through our Parish Outreach Programs and Catholic Charities. More than 600,000 people are served each year through your faithfulness and generosity.

You are so important to the ministries that this Appeal supports and the people it impacts. Please prayerfully consider a gift to the 2022 Catholic Ministries Appeal. My prayers and thanks to you and your family.
