Matthew 16:13-20 (Ordinary 21)

Jesus went into the region of Caesarea Philippi and he asked his disciples, "Who do people say that the Son of Man is?" They replied, "Some say John the Baptist, others Elijah, still others Jeremiah or one of the prophets." He said to them, "But who do you say that I am?" Simon Peter said in reply, "You are the Christ, the Son of the living God." Jesus said to him in reply, "Blessed are you, Simon son of Jonah. For flesh and blood has not revealed this to you, but my heavenly Father. And so I say to you, you are Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church, and the gates of the netherworld shall not prevail against it. I will give you the keys to the kingdom of heaven. Whatever you bind on earth shall be bound in heaven; and whatever you loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven." Then he strictly ordered his disciples to tell no one that he was the Christ.

Focus Questions for 8/27/2023

Matthew 16:13-20

- 2: Describe a situation when someone you loved and admired gave you a lot of responsibility.
- 3: How would you answer Jesus' question, "who do you say I am?"

Fr. Antony's Letter

Dear Friends,

Once a reporter asked an aging actress, "What is your age?". She replied, "I really don't know my age. It keeps changing from minute to minute."

She is right. We grow older every minute. There is steady growth taking place in our body, for better or worse. Every minute adds a fraction of time to our lifespan. So, how can we give any fixed number as to our age at any time? But still, we must settle for a particular number in order to identify how old we are for practical purposes.

When God became human in Jesus, God too had to settle for human particularities. God has to appear in human terms so that He can relate with humans. Thus, Jesus as human being chose a gender (man), culture (Jewish), life-span (33 years), time (two millennia back), space (Israel) and so on. God's eternity and the abstractions cannot be grasped or experienced unless it is given in human particularities of culture, time, space, etc. God's infinity appeared to human eyes in human finitude. God's omnipresence lived among us in human limitedness.

Today's Gospel explains the struggle when the human exclusiveness of Jesus clashes with His divine inclusiveness. As a human, Jesus limited His ministry within the borders of Israel. He clearly said, "I was sent only to the lost sheep of the house of Israel." The scope and focus of His ministry were to the lost sheep of Israel within the land of Israel. But as God, should not Jesus include all people? How could He say to the woman, "It is not right to take the food of the children and throw it to the dogs."?

These words of Jesus would sound harsh and hurtful unless we understand them as the expression of God's inclusiveness in Jesus's exclusiveness.

Though God is merciful to all, His mercy itself comes to each of us in the way we respond to God's presence among us. God's mercy works with us without destroying our human particularities. The plan and purpose that God expresses and executes in us, will in no way eliminate our human character and traits. God limits almighty power to a human standard so that it may be received and understood by humans without their nature being destroyed or exploited.

Today's Gospel explains that Jesus, the incarnated God has His limitation as a human being when He responded to the plea of the Canaanite mother, "I was sent only to the lost sheep of the house of Israel." But when the woman appealed to Him in faith saying, "Please, Lord, for even the dogs eat the scraps that fall from the table of their masters", Jesus was touched in His divine nature. Then Jesus said to her in reply, "O woman, great is your faith! Let it be done for you as you wish."

The message is simple here. As human, Jesus may decide to minister according to what God has planned to do through the incarnated human nature. But as God, Jesus is always open and generous to minister to the need of those whoever appeal to Him in faith. Though Jesus, as human came to minister locally at a particular time and space, as God He does not hesitate to work globally beyond all human particularities (creed, color, race and religion). Faith removes all the stumbling blocks and keeps the heart open for God to come and work wonders with the humans.

You are invited to the St. Thomas More Beach Mass and Picnic. Please remember to mark your calendar; September 3rd is the date at Otto Schubert Beach, Nissequogue, starting with Mass at Noon. A picnic follows the mass. Please, bring lunch and spend some social time after the Mass at the Beach. The Knights of Columbus will keep the grill hot and ready to help those who want to barbecue their food.

Catholic Ministry Appeal 2023: Our Parish's assessment this year is $69,300. This year we have reached a pledged total of $26,455 so far, which is 38.17% of our goal. Please consider making your pledge that the mission of serving our poor may continue in the diocese.

With love and prayers,
Fr. Antony

His Presence Is Real - Reflections on the Eucharist by Deacon Matt

The Mass: Liturgy of the Word Part I

Let us return to our examination of the Mass and begin to take a look at the second of its four sections, The Liturgy of the Word. You'll recall that the first section of the Mass, which we recently looked at, is called the Introductory Rites. At the conclusion of that section, the assembly is seated, and we begin to listen to God's Word.

At virtually all Masses, you'll notice a lay person will come forward from his/her seat, bow to the altar, and then approach the ambo, the place where the Word is read. This person, known as a lector, has been trained in and entrusted with a critical task: the proclamation of sacred Scripture. Before Vatican II, only those men who were in the process of becoming priests were instituted as lectors, and only they could read Scripture at Mass. However, after Vatican II and the subsequent apostolic letter Ministeria Quaedam (August 15, 1972) the possibility of lay persons being commissioned as lectors became a reality. For many of us (myself included) this was our first opportunity to serve as a minister at Mass.

The proclamation of Scripture is critical because this is one of the ways Christ is made present during Mass. Jesus wishes to speak directly to us in all the readings we hear. The Liturgy of the Word prepares our minds, hearts and souls to receive Jesus further in the Eucharist later in Mass, and also helps us on our journey in life.

As for the readings themselves, they are arranged in a book called the Lectionary. The Sunday readings follow a three-year cycle that begins on the First Sunday of Advent and concludes on the Feast of Christ the King. We are currently in Cycle A. The daily Mass follows a two-year cycle based on the calendar year; we are currently in Cycle I.

Let us all renew our commitment to the Lord by truly opening our ears attentively to what he says to us through his Word at every Mass. "In the readings ... God speaks to his people, opening up to them the mystery of redemption and salvation ... and Christ himself is present in his word"
-General Instruction of the Roman Missal, no. 55.

This & That

With Deacon Matt

This summer, Deacon Matt will be making time to visit with small groups of parishioners in the home.

Do you have questions about our faith?

Do you find it difficult to follow teachings of the Church in this day and age? Are there issues you'd like to discuss, or suggestions you'd like to make? The floor is yours! Deacon Matt will be the facilitator. The format is simple: find 6-10 people to gather at your home on a specific date, serve dessert, and come with your questions/topics.

Deacon Matt is especially interested in hearing the voices of the young. So teenagers and young adults are most certainly encouraged to get a group together!

To discuss a specific date, you can send an email to ThisAndThat2023@stmli.org or leave a message at the rectory.

Circle of Women

It is the mission of the Circle of Women Book Group to focus on the spiritual influence of contemporary writing that facilitates our own reflections of God's action in our daily lives.

We do not meet in July and August. Our next meeting is 9/18/2023. Our book discussion will be It Ends With Us by Colleen Hoover. Facilitator: Jo Garvey

For further info or to register, call Marilyn @ 631-234-5805 or Joan @ 631-234-1739

Have you been called by name?

Come and follow Jesus and his teachings!

If you are missing any or all of your Sacraments, or are converting from another religion, come on an incredible journey of faith, love, and community that is the Catholic Church. Contact RCIA by calling the rectory @ 631-234-5551
