Matthew 18:21-35 (Ordinary 24)

Peter approached Jesus and asked him, "Lord, if my brother sins against me, how often must I forgive? As many as seven times?" Jesus answered, "I say to you, not seven times but seventy-seven times. That is why the kingdom of heaven may be likened to a king who decided to settle accounts with his servants. When he began the accounting, a debtor was brought before him who owed him a huge amount. Since he had no way of paying it back, his master ordered him to be sold, along with his wife, his children, and all his property, in payment of the debt. At that, the servant fell down, did him homage, and said, 'Be patient with me, and I will pay you back in full.' Moved with compassion the master of that servant let him go and forgave him the loan. When that servant had left, he found one of his fellow servants who owed him a much smaller amount. He seized him and started to choke him, demanding, 'Pay back what you owe.' Falling to his knees, his fellow servant begged him, 'Be patient with me, and I will pay you back.' But he refused. Instead, he had the fellow servant put in prison until he paid back the debt. Now when his fellow servants saw what had happened, they were deeply disturbed, and went to their master and reported the whole affair. His master summoned him and said to him, 'You wicked servant! I forgave you your entire debt because you begged me to. Should you not have had pity on your fellow servant, as I had pity on you?' Then in anger his master handed him over to the torturers until he should pay back the whole debt. So will my heavenly Father do to you, unless each of you forgives your brother from your heart."

Focus Questions for 9/17/23

Matthew 18:21-35

- 1: Describe a time when you did not respond to another's need and regretted it later.
- 2: What do you find hard to forgive?
- 3: Relate a time when a debt or obligation you owed was forgiven. What was the impact on you?

Family & Children's Question:

Talk about a time you forgave someone who hurt you. How did you feel after?

Fr. Antony's Letter

Dear Friends,

"There are two kinds of people who never amount to much: those who cannot do what they are told, and those who can do nothing more than what they are told." This saying explains people in two extreme categories. But most of us are neither boorish brats who cannot listen to anyone, nor robots who can do only what is commanded.

Today's Gospel explains that each of us is created with special and unique gifts, i.e., the gift of loving. Love is a gift because it is freely and unconditionally given to us from others and must be freely and unconditionally offered to others by us. Love is unique because in loving, we would become neither brats nor robots but would become unique lovers and special in the eyes of the beloved.

As much as we can be the lovers or beloved, we, in our weak moments can also hurt or sin against others. In such a sinful/hurtful situation Jesus instructs us to repair the damage on three levels: first, try to repair it personally between the offender and the offended. If this does not work, secondly, try to solve it in the presence of two or three witnesses. If this also does not help, thirdly, try to reconcile them with the help of the Church. When none of the three could repair the damage, Jesus allows the offender to go back to square one, where he was before becoming a lover or the beloved in the Church. That person is put away from the community, not as an enemy, but to give a chance to start again the journey to be a lover in the Church.

The aim of the community that 'believes in Jesus' is not simply to judge and label who is a sinner or a saint, but to come together in the name of Jesus and to experience Jesus in their midst. "For where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in the midst of them." Our focus on being a Christian community is on Jesus. As a community each of us has our own habits, traditions and convenient philosophy which are only starting points for us to form a community in order to experience Jesus among us. We are individuals with our idiosyncrasies but we are in need of each other living in community. Jesus calls us together as a community, not to condemn and excommunicate each other. As a community of the believers in Jesus, let us try to understand each other in order to grow back in love. When we love each other Christ becomes the divine reality among us to enliven and empower us in unity and prosperity.

Families are registering their children for Religious Education strengthening their faith formation. In a regular year by this time over 80 first grade children would have been registered for the First Communion Program. In this post-pandemic year we have only 28 children registered so far. Complying with all the health precaution regulations, we have taken various necessary steps in forming the children in the context of regular, virtual, or home school type classes, etc. Please call the Religious Education office to learn how we can help your Children. Let us all grow together in health and faith; let us help our children to grow with us.

Catholic Ministry Appeal 2023: Our Parish's assessment this year is $ 69,300. This year we have reached the pledged total of $ 26,455 so far, which is 38.17% of our goal. Please consider making your pledge that the mission of serving our poor may continue in the diocese.

With love and prayers,
Fr. Antony

His Presence Is Real - Reflections on the Eucharist by Deacon Matt

The Mass: Liturgy of the Word Part IV

Welcome back to our continuing exploration of The Liturgy of the Word at Mass. Last week, we discussed the Responsorial Psalm. Directly after the Psalm, at Sunday Masses and Solemnities, we hear the Second Reading proclaimed.

The Second Reading is a bit unusual because it will often feel “out of place” when compared to the First Reading, Psalm and Gospel. This is because those other three elements are chosen in liturgical harmony (they all have a connection). However, after Vatican II, the Church decided to put a greater emphasis on the epistles and letters of the New Testament, as well as the Book of Revelation. These selections do not always fall in line with the other readings at each Mass in an obvious way.

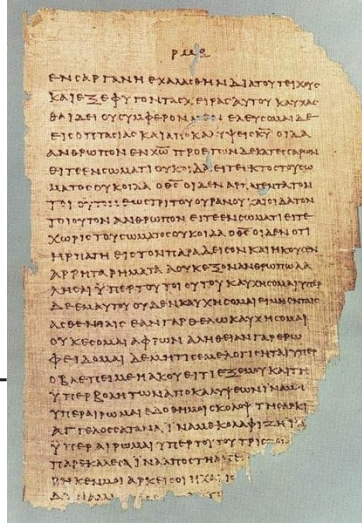

All the New Testament readings come from a period of time when the Church was struggling to form and grow. There certainly was oppression, condemnation and even martyrdom that befell early Christians. As we hear these readings, we can put ourselves in the place of those who live in countries without freedom of religion, who hunger for Christ. We can see our own difficulties we may face in our struggles with faith, and with a world that doesn't put God first.

And yet in these readings we find such a rich explanation of our faith: how we are meant to be one Body in Christ, to love, and to worship the One who gave his life for all who would believe. The Second Reading articulates what it means to be a Catholic, most especially in our belief in the Real Presence of Jesus in the Eucharist, and the graces that flow from experiencing our Savior in this way.

“Although you have not seen [Jesus Christ] you love him; even though you do not see him now yet believe in him, you rejoice with an indescribable and glorious joy, as you attain the goal of your faith, the salvation of your souls.” (1 Peter 1:8, from the Second Reading on the Second Sunday of Easter, Cycle A)

Did you know...

...that through your unending generosity we were able to provide 77 backpacks to students in our community who were in need.

...that through your unending generosity we were able to give families 77 gift cards so they could purchase needed clothing, shoes, etc. for their children.

...that through your unending generosity we were able to give food and Shop Rite gift cards to 65 families during the month of August

Thank you, thank you, thank you to everyone who has donated (and continues to donate). It is through your kindness and generosity that we are able to continue to help those in need!
