Luke 24:35-48 (Easter 3)

The two disciples recounted what had taken place on the way, and how Jesus was made known to them in the breaking of bread.

While they were still speaking about this, he stood in their midst and said to them, "Peace be with you." But they were startled and terrified and thought that they were seeing a ghost. Then he said to them, "Why are you troubled? And why do questions arise in your hearts? Look at my hands and my feet, that it is I myself. Touch me and see, because a ghost does not have flesh and bones as you can see I have." And as he said this, he showed them his hands and his feet. While they were still incredulous for joy and were amazed, he asked them, "Have you anything here to eat?" They gave him a piece of baked fish; he took it and ate it in front of them.

He said to them, "These are my words that I spoke to you while I was still with you, that everything written about me in the law of Moses and in the prophets and psalms must be fulfilled." Then he opened their minds to understand the Scriptures. And he said to them, "Thus it is written that the Christ would suffer and rise from the dead on the third day and that repentance, for the forgiveness of sins, would be preached in his name to all the nations, beginning from Jerusalem. You are witnesses of these things."

Fr. Antony's Letter

Dear Friends,

A priest was pulled over for speeding while driving. The priest said to the officer: "Blest are they who show mercy, as they will receive mercy" The officer responded back, giving a ticket: "Go, and sin no more." Law does not have heart so it cannot have mercy. It knows only one of two things: when it is observed there is an award and when it is transgressed there is punishment. "A little bit of Mercy makes the world less cold and more just." (Pope Francis)

The Second Sunday of Easter is the Divine Mercy Sunday. It celebrates God's gift of mercy. The Risen Lord was not vengeful. He pardoned even those who persecuted Him and invited everyone to live the peace. God in Jesus values us not for what we did or failed to do, but how best we can live every day. God, the Merciful One, forgives all our failures and weakness in order to empower us to live our best. Psalm 130 expresses the sentiments for the Mercy of God rising from a human heart, "Out of the depths: I call to you, LORD; Lord, hear my cry! May your ears be attentive to my cry for Mercy. If you, LORD, keep account of sins, Lord, who can stand? But with you is forgiveness" (Psalms 130:1-4) "Apart from the Mercy of God there is no other source of hope for humans." (St. John Paul II)

Like God, only one creature in all of creation can show mercy. Yes, only we, the humans, can feel and express Mercy. The Godly quality of mercy can be found only in humans. If we are not ready to live mercy as God does, we all will end up judging and condemning each other.

What is mercy? Mercy is the compassion and kindness shown to someone who deserves to be punished. Jesus on the cross is the best example of this Godly quality. He had the perfect wisdom to defend His innocence and all the power to punish His persecutors, but in His Mercy He taught them, by living in compassion and kindness, in forgiving their sins. "They crucified Him there, along with the criminals, one on His right and the other on His left. Then Jesus said, "Father, forgive them, for they do not know what they are doing." (Luke 23:33-34).

We are created after God's image. None but we, the humans alone, have the power and will to live in 'Mercy' with each other. Today's Gospel narrates the story of Jesus the Merciful Lord appearing to the disciples who abandoned Him at the time of His suffering and shameful death. He forgives their sins and embraces them in forgiveness and mercy. The first reading shows how the Mercy of God worked in the first community of believers. Mercy to each other empowered them to claim nothing as their own. Mercy to each other made them work for the good of each other. "Mercy is love in action." (Nelson Searcy) God put His mercy in action, loving us by offering Jesus on the Cross. Jesus put His mercy in action sending us to live and love like the way He did, as the early community of believers did. Let us live in Mercy.

With love and prayers,
Fr. Antony

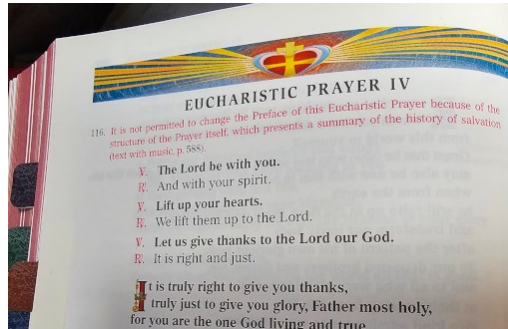

His Presence Is Real - Reflections on the Eucharist by Deacon Matt

The Mass: Liturgy of the Eucharist - Part XII

We will now return to our study of the Liturgy of the Eucharist by taking a look at the final Eucharistic Prayer, number IV. We probably find this prayer used the least out of the four. It is not meant to be used on Sundays outside of Ordinary Time, and also isn't conducive to adding names of saints during feast days. The prayer is based on the Anaphora of St. Basil the Great, an early Church Father from the fourth century.

One distinctive characteristic of this prayer is that it has its own Preface, which presents a summary of the history of salvation. After the Sanctus, a very beautiful prayer of thanksgiving begins. We praise the Father for creating everything in the world out of love, for forming us in God's image and likeness, and for sending Jesus to accomplish the plan of salvation.

Following this, we find the epiclesis, in which there is a mention of the "eternal covenant," the New Covenant sealed by Jesus' death on the Cross. The Institution Narrative and Consecration come next. In the anam- nesis that follows, the resurrection and ascension of Christ is highlighted. The second epiclesis makes mention of our participation in the Eucharist as a "living sacrifice."

The prayer closes with Intercessions for the pope, the local bishop, the clergy, those gathered in the church and also all the faithful, as well as the deceased. There is in addition a prayerful hope to enter into "a heavenly inheritance" with all the saints and our Blessed Mother, concluding with the Final Doxology.

Note that while we have now covered all four main Eucharistic Prayers, there are also special ones for Reconciliation and Various Needs. But whichever prayer we happen to hear at Mass, may we more deeply meditate on the great gift Jesus gives us, his Real Presence in the Eucharist.

"Look, O Lord, upon the Sacrifice which you yourself have provided for your Church, and grant in your loving kindness to all who partake of this one Bread and one Chalice that, gathered into one body by the Holy Spirit, they may truly become a living sacrifice in Christ to the praise of your glory." – Eucharistic Prayer IV, no. 122.

Easter with the Early Church

Pray40 might be done, but the people of Hallow definitely are not. Starting Monday, April 8th, you can participate in the Easter with the Early Church Challenge, a new three week prayer program:

Be transformed this Easter Season! Matt Fradd, Fr. Malachy, CFR, George Xanthis, and Patricia Heaton take us through the lives of early Christians who knew Jesus firsthand and followed the Apostles. Each day will feature one of their stories and a specific topic to explore. We'll pray alongside them and practice different styles of prayer they would've learned. We'll understand what they believed and why they were willing to die for their faith. And in seeing the transformational power of the Resurrection over the first 400 years of the Church, we'll also ask God to transform our lives along the way.
